ION STARTED R NEW TRUCK; FIFTH FIREMAN

COUNCIL UNANIMOUS N FIRE PROTECTION PROCEDURE

Expressing the unanimous opinion that Greencastle was in need of another piece of fire equipment and an additional fireman, the city council last night began procedure to purchase a new truck and hire a fifth fireman.

It was brought out in the session that the old Studebaker truck is not only obsolete but is out and cannot be relied upon any longer as a second or third truck. This truck is twenty years old and is composed of assembled parts. Some of these parts can no longer be obtained as the companies made them when the truck was purchased have gone out of business. The equipment, including the pumper, have been on numerous occasions further repairs are now out of the question.

Members of the council unanimously agreed that the citizens expected and should the best fire protection possible and this, they do not have at present, with the second truck in a deplorable condition. It was also brought out that a new good truck will be a big help in the reduction of fire in the city.

Greencastle has been very fortunate in not having two serious fires at the same time. Should a fire alarm come in while the men were out fighting a first fire, the present equipment cannot be depended upon to fight the second fire.

Due to the lack of serviceable equipment, the firemen are unable to respond to very many calls outside the city limits as it is deemed best to have the good trucks ready to answer alarms within the city proper. With a good reserve truck another fireman on duty this situation can be remedied for the advantage of all concerned. As to this discussion, Fire Chief Lawrence presented an annual report for his department for the year 1946.

During the past 12 months, the city firemen had 105 calls. The estimated loss for the year was $6,378. This was broken down to reveal that building loss was $1,993 and loss to contents was $4,475.

The most calls were made during the month of October when the firemen had 17 runs. The greatest number of runs occurred in December when there were 13 alarms.

Fire Chief Lawrence stressed the fact that during the nine-year period from 1937 to Jan. 1, the average fire loss in Greencastle was $12,000.

However, although underfunded and handicapped by inadequate equipment, this average loss has been reduced during the past four years. Mr. Lawrence pointed out. Last year's loss of $6,378 was about $2500 less than the average.

The chief reported that there is a great deal of defective wiring in Greencastle, especially in the downtown section. He said the condition could easily mean a fire at any time.

Fire Chief Lawrence acknowledged the cooperation of the merchants and schools in the department's efforts to reduce fire hazards. A petition is now being prepared by Frank Stoessel, city attorney, asking for the purchase of a new truck and will be presented at the next meeting of the council on Monday, January 20.

An appropriation ordinance was introduced which calls for funds to pay the salary of another fireman; another police officer; a new police car, and a new garbage truck.

FIREMEN CALLED

City firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Crawley, 807 south Locust street, shortly after 11 o'clock Monday night, as result of an overheated stove. No damage was reported.

Mayor Re-Names Boyd As Judge

Mayor Walter Ballard announced Monday night during the meeting of the city council that he had re-appointed Rexell A. Boyd as municipal court judge for another year.

Also, during the session, the claim ordinance totaling $1,768.66 was introduced by Councilman Herbert Craver, who moved its passage. Following a second of this motion by Councilman Ward Mayhall, the claims were passed by a unanimous vote.

It was remarked during the meeting that it was the first session in a long time for the council that there was not a single petition for a building permit on file.

Sheep Breeders Meet Friday Night

The annual meeting of the Putnam County sheep breeders association will be held Friday night January 10, 1947 at 7:30 in the county agents office. They will elect officers for the following year and also plan for the sheep exhibit at the Putnam County fair which will be held in August.

The sheep exhibit and judging is always one of the biggest attractions at the fair and plans are already under way for a bigger and better exhibit this year.

With several flocks of registered Hampshire, Shropshire, Southdowns and Suffolk already in the county and a lot of grade flocks rapidly becoming improved, there should be a sharp increase in the quality of the market lambs from the county next year.

Anyone who is interested in the improvement of the sheep industry are invited to attend this meeting. If anyone is interested in securing a start of purebreds they should come and see who has them for sale.

It is the hope of this organization to hold a Purebred Ram Sale in the county, in the fall, whereby anyone who wants a Purebred ram can secure one to improve his grade flocks. It will be an all breed sale and therefore he can get the breed of his choice.

Group Opposes Extending Draft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (UP)—Top members of the House Armed Forces Committee turned thumbs down today on any proposal to extend the draft beyond its scheduled March 31 expiration.

But most of them indicated they might go along with President Truman on merger of the armed forces and some form of universal training. The President urged both in his message to Congress yesterday.

The training program appeared headed for sharp controversy despite the friendly reception from many members of the armed forces committee. House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr. said he still preferred his proposal for an attempt to abolish compulsory military training throughout the world by international agreement.

Mr. Truman did not specifically request an extension of the draft act, but said it might be necessary if voluntary enlistments failed to meet army manpower needs.

GEN. MARSHALL TO RETURN FROM CHINA

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7. (UP)—Gen. George C. Marshall will fly from Nanking to Washington early tomorrow with a report for President Truman which some diplomatic quarters believe will end his peace mission to China.

Marshall has given no intimation whether he considers his return to China worthwhile. Widespread opinion in diplomatic quarters was that he could accomplish little more in his mediation efforts between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists.

Quarters close to Marshall said he would fly directly from Nanking to the United States without a halt at Shanghai. It was considered highly improbable that he will make any statement on the Chinese situation until he has reported to Mr. Truman and talked with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Probe Underway In Plane Crash

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (UP)—Civil Aeronautics Administration officials today began an investigation of a crash of a Northwest Airlines plane at the Municipal Airport last night in which 37 passengers and a crew of four narrowly escaped injury.

The plane, a four-motored DC-4, snapped its landing gear and burst into flames as the wheels touched down at the north end of the airport.

The left wheel of the landing gear broke loose, witnesses reported, throwing the plane off the runway and crashing its left wing against the ground.

The gasoline caught fire instantly. Persons watching the ship as it came in for the landing described it as a "flaming meteor" careening along the field.

Ground crews clad in asbestos suits rushed to the scene, but the flames consumed the ship despite their efforts. Airline officials valued the plane at $450,000.

Also destroyed was the passengers' baggage, together with a consignment of mail.

Larry F. Reid, district traffic manager for Northwest Airlines, said the ship's landing gear apparently had hit a chunk of ice or other obstacle on the runway. An investigation was ordered by regional CAA officials.

OTIS GARDNER FELL ON ICE TUESDAY MORNING

Otis Gardner fell on the ice at the Coca-Cola Bottling plant early Tuesday morning and suffered a severe head injury. He was taken to his home following treatment by a local physician.

CONGRESS FACING FARM ALTERNATIVE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Jan. 7. (INS)—The "nationalization of British farming taking place under England's labor government" was described today as a "specter" at any consideration of possible American farm price legislation, in a statement issued by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber's agriculture-business department outlined what it said were the alternatives facing the new U. S. Congress in developing a program to maintain farm prices without resorting to production controls or subsidies. The department opinioned:

It is questionable whether the Republicans will wish to return to the use of production controls and use of subsidies as a solution.

Attention to increase consumption is a possible solution in bringing production into a reasonable balance with demand. The Commerce department anticipated that increased production of farm goods will continue "at least through 1948."

The proposed extensive government supervision of British farming was described as a "specter" at any discussion of the American program for keeping farm demand and supply in balance.

Goes Under Knife

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (UP)—Doctors said today that Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest power hitter, soon would have another "home run" to his credit—that the Babe will be able to go home if he continues his fast recovery from a serious neck operation.

Dr. Hippolyte Wertheim performed the two-hour-and-10-minute operation at French hospital yesterday, aided by three other specialists, and at its conclusion indicated that it had been a complete success. Hospital Director Harry Kiely later issued a bulletin saying that Ruth's condition was "satisfactory" and that he would be able to sit up and to walk around within a few days, unless unexpected complications arise.

Rocco Riddled By Posse Guns

COBLESKILL, N. Y., Jan. 7. (UP)—An autopsy was performed at 10 A. M. today on the bullet-riddled body of Alphonse Rocco, who chose to shoot it out with police in moonlit "Patched Hollow" last night rather than face society for the camera-gun, proxy shooting of his former wife.

The 28-year-old Rocco was killed in a fusillade of shots fired by 25 policemen who tracked him to the snow covered mountain recess, 120 miles from Times Square where his wife was wounded critically a week ago today.

Shortly after six o'clock last night the posse, headed by State Police Inspector Charles A. La Farge and New York City Detectives Henry Strauss and James Neylon, found Rocco lying in a sleeping bag on the snowy mountain slope.

Moving up behind ridges to keep from being silhouetted in the moonlight, the officers hid behind trees, rifles and revolvers aimed at the figure in the snow. "Come on out, Rocco, we've got you covered," one of the officers shouted.

Rocco opened fire with one of the two guns he carried. The shells went wild. Police guns blazed. It was over almost instantly. One bullet hit Rocco squarely between the eyes. Another had pierced both cheeks. Still others punctured his chest and stomach.

Police counted at least nine bullet holes.

"He was shot so many times we won't know how many until the autopsy," said LaFarge.

The police officers had trailed Rocco to his last hideout from the farm home of Roy Lewis where he had spent the previous night, threatening to kill Lewis, his wife and three-year-old son if they betrayed him.

Late in the afternoon he took the sleeping bag and fled to the hills.

Rocco had been the object of an intensive manhunt since last Tuesday when 19-year-old Pearl Luck shot his former wife, Olga Trapani Rocco, 28, with a sawed-off shotgun concealed in a gaily-wrapped package. The shooting occurred in the Times Square subway station in New York City.

BATTLE OVER TAXES HEADS FOR SHOWDOWN

POLICY CONFLICTS DEVELOPING RAPIDLY IN U. S. CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (UP)—President Truman and the Republican-controlled Congress headed for a showdown battle over taxes today with other policy conflicts developing rapidly. Republicans insist that taxes will be cut.

Mr. Truman's annual message on the State of the Union is under a barrage of friendly but firm GOP fire. The Republicans are standing pat for 1947 income tax reduction and congressional reaction indicates dissatisfaction with the President's labor-management proposals on grounds that they do not go far enough.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., made it clear that the Republican leadership intended to institute its own fiscal program—including tax cuts—for that proposed by the President. Mr. Truman said tax relief was not warranted at this time and that the expected budget surplus should go to debt reduction. Martin said:

"The Republican goal is to balance the budget, make payments on the national debt and reduce personal income taxes. 'Through reduction in personal taxes, we want to increase the take home pay of the workers and provide the incentive for business expansion, which will mean more jobs and more revenue.'"

In view of the Republican reaction to Mr. Truman's fiscal program, it is likely the President will veto at least two GOP tax bills this year, one reducing personal taxes and the other immediately eliminating certain wartime increases in excise taxes on luxury items.

Mr. Truman's labor management proposals, including compulsory arbitration for unjustified labor practices, were somewhat better received. But Republican spokesmen held it was no more than a step in the right direction.

It was on issues of taxation and labor-management relations that the Democratic administration and the Republican Congress were heading for their sharpest 1947 disagreement.

The GOP shied away from Mr. Truman's aid-to-small-business program on the grounds government intervention on the scale indicated, including use of federal credit to promote new firms, would hamper free enterprise.

Widespread opposition developed to the President's suggestion that selective service might have to be extended beyond the March 31 expiration date. But there was considerable Republican support for unification of the armed services and a willingness to consider universal (military) training on its merits.

Congress apparently will give a quick brush-off to Mr. Truman's request that immigration laws be relaxed to permit thousands of Europe's displaced persons to find haven here.

The Republican majority rallied for overall battle with Mr. Truman on fiscal policies, including government spending. In opposing tax reduction at this time the President asked Congress to extend beyond June 30 the wartime excise levies imposed in 1943.

SHOWDOWN BATTLE

Republican leaders told the United Press that the first business of the House Ways and Means Committee will be to consider immediate elimination of emergency excise rates on selected luxury items. These included furs, jewelry and electrical appliances and equipment.

The House GOP leadership has had an avalanche of protests from retailers of such items. They complain their business would be damaged if the emergency rates were to continue now with the understanding they would come off June 30.

A bill for immediate elimination of some of these rates, the United Press was informed, will take precedence over the bill for a 20 per cent cut in personal income taxes on incomes up to $200,000 a year. Incomes in excess of that sum would enjoy a 10 1/2 per cent reduction. House leaders had planned a quickie bill to cut personal income levies but it is not expected now to be ready for committee consideration before Feb. 20.

Heirens, now 18, and confined to the psychiatric branch of the Illinois State Prison where he is writing his autobiography, has once again repudiated the confession he made shortly before he was convicted and sentenced to three life terms for three murders. He was found guilty not only of the murder of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, but also of the knife slaying of Mrs. Josephine Ross, a 41-year-old widow and ex-WAVE Frances Brown.

A dry goods merchant for 50 years in La Salle, Illinois, he was elected by acclamation to the presidency of the National Retail Dry Goods Association in 1914. Looking at Life

Erich Brandeis'

According to a news dispatch, Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra for the last twelve years, has resigned because he is dissatisfied with the size of type in which his name is displayed in advertisements and in electric lights.

The straw that broke the camel's back, according to the dispatch, is the fact that in the last announcement Monteux's name was printed very small, while the soloist's name appeared in much larger letters.

I remember many years ago when I was on the San Francisco Call, and very young, nothing made me prouder than to see a story with my "byline" in my paper.

That story was always the first, and often the only one, I read in the paper.

My pay was small and I was always broke.

So I asked for a raise.

"Sorry, we can't give you a raise, just now," my city editor said to me, "but I'll tell you what we will do. We will make your byline two points larger."

Two points is a thirty-sixth of an inch, but I accepted the proposal and was a very proud and happy young man.

I have long since found out that grocers and butchers and landlords don't care one bit about the size of type in which your name is displayed. It is the size of your bank account that matters and even the smallest signature on a check is good just as long as the check is good.

I don't know a thing about the Monteux affair in San Francisco.

But I do know all about Monteux, and I know that the San Francisco people hold him in high esteem and are proud to have him as their orchestra leader.

Perhaps Mr. Monteux doesn't realize that the soloist's name has to be played up in larger letters because his name may not be as well known in San Francisco as his own.

Maybe, in San Francisco, even today, as in my days as a cub reporter, size of type is handed out instead of money.

Don't ever think that I don't like to see my name in print—the bigger the better.

But I have discovered that it isn't the size of your name, but the bigness of your performance, that counts, after all.

I myself, would much rather have what I write find a place in your hearts than to see my name in 72-point type over a lot of superficial hypocrisy.

I hope Mr. Monteux will read this column.

ANNIVERSARIES

Birthday

Mrs. Carl E. Fox, today, Jan. 7th.

HELICOPTER SERVICE

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(UP)—Sixteen regular mail delivery runs by helicopter within a 50 mile radius of New York began today, establishing a pattern of postal service "faster than telegram" that will be extended to the whole country by 1948.

COSTLY FIRE

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Jan. 7.—(UP)—Damage was estimated today at more than $10,000 in a fire which destroyed the post office, a grocery store and a home in nearby Greensboro yesterday.

PICK A PLUMP HUSBAND

PROFESSOR ADVISES

BOTON (U)—Lady, if he runs to fat, your best bet is to run after him.

That's the advice of Prof. Earnest Hooton, Harvard anthropologist, who believes fat men make the best husbands.

A male with avoirdupois usually has an even disposition, a sense of relaxation and a love of mankind, says Hooton.

Hooton also warned womanhood that the "string-bean" type and the "bone and muscle" men are poor bargains in the matrimonial mart.

40-YEAR OCCUPATION OF GERMANY SEEN

PITTSBURGH (UP)—An allied occupation of Germany which may last as long as 40 years is foreseen by Brigadier J. W. F. Treadwell, director-general of public relations in the British zone.

The veteran of 20 years service with the Scottish Guards made the prediction during a visit here on leave with his American-born wife.

Brigadier Treadwell divided the aims of occupation into three classes—demilitarization, denazification and democratization.

The last, he believes, will give the Allies their acid test.

The present generation cannot grasp democracy, Treadwell said, and it may have to be taught to succeeding generations in schools. He suggested, therefore, that the those children "grow into power."

CLOUD MEASURING DEVICE BRIGHTENS MAINE SKIES

PORTLAND, Me., (UP)—Portland residents who thought they saw the Northern Lights at unusual times and places have been reassured.

Instead of viewing Aurora Borealis, they have been watching a new weather bureau instrument, the ceilometer, which measures the height of clouds.

The ceilometer consists of a powerful mercury-arc lamp which projects a fixed beam for three miles. When the beam strikes a cloud, it is reflected to the weather bureau.

FRANKSTER HAS HIS FUN BUT COPS CATCH UP

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Lewis Thomas, 26, who kept police wires clogged with false reports of a crooked handbook, was caught with his receiver up on his 17th and last complaint.

One police lieutenant kept him on the wire, while another went to the restaurant where he was calling. Thomas had spent 85 cents in nickels on phone calls to the police from the chief on down. Said officers who arrested him on charges of disorderly conduct and drunkenness, "He almost drove us crazy."

CITIES ACT TO HANDLE INCREASING TRAFFIC

CHICAGO (UP)—Predictions that automobile traffic will increase 65 per cent in the next 15 years are spurring immediate and long-term traffic aid plans in U. S. cities, the American Public Works Association reports.

New York City has imposed a ban on parking along express streets and in central Manhattan. Officials there plan to spend $3,500,000 in 1947 on designing new expressways and parking garages as part of a $132,000,000 traffic relief program.

Indianapolis banned downtown parking entirely during morning and afternoon rush hours in the Christmas shopping season. Chicago is starting a traffic study and parking analysis to cope with a 42 per cent increase in downtown traffic, Miami, Fla., Dallas, Tex., and Providence, R. I., have been making similar studies.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of Robert E. Buis, who passed away Jan. 7, 1939 and Greg G. Buis, who passed away July 22, 1944.

It's not the tears at the moment shed. That tells of the hearts that are torn. But the lonely tears in after years.

And the heart aches sadly borne. We think of them and feel them near. And our home is sad since they left us here.

But old memories linger and still we say. They are not dead, they are just away.

Sadly missed by the family.

SIKORSKY SEES DAWN OF HELICOPTER ERA

CLEVELAND (UP)—Within five to 10 years the helicopter will be sufficiently inexpensive, simple and safe for popular use, according to Igor Sikorsky, pioneer in the wingless aircraft field.

Sikorsky said that when the time comes, it may be the greatest factor since development of the automobile and commuter train in spreading out cities and speeding suburban business development.

"Individually owned and operated helicopters will permit commutation from points as far distant as 50 miles with the ease which one may now come into a city from its suburban areas," Sikorsky said.

Sikorsky, first aircraft engineer to develop and fly a helicopter, acknowledged that the plane has not been developed sufficiently to permit its operation by anyone but an expert, and that the price is well beyond mass ability to pay.

"With the present speed of development, the day when it will be available for popular use is definitely less than a decade away," he said, adding that "it will never replace the regular plane or the automobile, but will serve a definite need for quick transportation that is not dependent on availability of airfields."
